

Note: AttendedEvent model only stores the information about the user_id(which is the id of current user) and event_id(which is the ID of the particular event being viewed by the user) after the user clicks the “Attend” button on event detail page. So, it doesn’t require any kind of association with any other model.